Critical Psychiatry Network

Psychiatry Beyond the Current Paradigm

Voices from within psychiatry who are seeking change are beginning to be heard. The Royal College of Psychiatrists' leading regular publication, The British Journal of Psychiatry recently carried a paper from the UK Critical Psychiatry Network entitled Beyond the Current Paradigm, which emphasises the importance of services and practitioners working with rather than upon those who seek their help. Perhaps unexpectedly, it received very little criticism from academics and peer psychiatrists.

This joint conference is an opportunity to walk that talk!

The conference theme

Day 1 opening session:

Keynote 1 Presentation from a Critical Psychiatry member giving a summary of the paper Hugh Middleton

Keynote 2 Comments on the paper from an activist's perspective, Jacqui Dillon

Keynote 3 The impact on services, Chief exec, Derby NHS Steve Trenchard

The rest of day 1 and day 2 will be workshop style; workshops will be delivered in a parallel fashion by people from a lived experience and professional backgrounds.

Day 3 will be group discussions facilitated by a chairperson who will collate feedback from group delegates. The feedback will then be presented to all the conference attendees with the aims to identify; is the paper a way forward from a lived experience perspective or a psychiatrist perspective?

Speakers include; Rufus May, Olga Runciman, Hugh Middleton, Rachel Waddingham, Chris Tandy, Phil Thomas, Kieran Fahy, Kate Crawford, Brian Langshaw, Simon Mullins, Vicky Baldwin, Rex Haigh, Jacqui Dillon plus many more
